PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Many common ENT conditions can be managed at the primary health care level with the potential for decreasing financial burden, reducing referrals and improving quality and timeliness of care. Using demonstrations, realistic learning experiences, and hands-on skill building techniques, this workshop will provide an appreciation of allergy testing, protocols for evaluating hearing loss and dizziness, relevant Osteopathic Manipulative Treatment (OMT), and training for in-office flexible nasolaryngoscopy. After completing the requirements, attendees may obtain both a continuing medical education (CME) Certificate and the Certificate of Proficiency in flexible nasolaryngoscopy.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Physicians, Nurse Practitioners, Physician Assistants and Other Health Care Providers involved in the Care of ENT Conditions Commonly Encountered in Primary Care.

CONTINUING MEDICAL EDUCATION (CME)

GLOBAL PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

1

Identify the patient who may benefit from evaluation and treatment of common ENT conditions including sinusitis, allergies, hearing loss and dizziness.

2

Evaluate when to refer a patient to an otolaryngologist (ENT specialist), allergist, audiologist, and OMM specialist for treatment options.

3

Define the indications and contraindications for flexible nasolaryngoscopy, allergy testing, hearing/dizziness screening procedures and OMM/OMT for ENT-related issues in the primary care setting.

4

Evaluate the efficacy of flexible nasolaryngoscopy as a diagnostic option in the primary care setting.

5

Identify the important anatomical landmarks and laryngeal structures seen during the flexible nasolaryngoscopy procedure.

6

Achieve familiarity in the use of flexible nasolaryngoscopy and/or proficiency in the flexible nasolaryngoscopy procedure.

7

Evaluate the efficacy of Osteopathic Manipulative Treatment (OMT) for sinusitis and allergy related issues.

8

Identify the role of allergy screening tests as a cost-effective strategy to assess allergy-related diseases.

9

Assess the efficacy of measurement of hearing loss and dizziness and discuss options for treatment.

10

Understand the process for implementing the flexible nasolaryngoscopy procedure in practice, including billing, coding and documentation.

ABOUT LMU-DCOM AND FARRAGUT ENT & ALLERGY

Lincoln Memorial University-DeBusk College of Osteopathic Medicine (LMU-DCOM) was established on August 1, 2017, on the campus of Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tennessee. The Knoxville Campus of the DeBusk College of Osteopathic Medicine opens in West Knoxville July 2019 for its inaugural class of students. LMU-DCOM is fully committed to meeting the health care needs of the community and beyond with excellence in teaching, patient care and service. The mission of the Office of Continuing Medical Education (CME) at LMU-DCOM will remain consistent with the mission of LMU-DCOM to prepare outstanding osteopathic physicians who are committed to the premise that the cornerstone of meaningful existence is service to humanity.

Farragut ENT and Allergy is an independent medical practice treating disorders of the ear, nose, and throat. Farragut ENT employs ENT physicians, audiologists, nurse practitioners, and others working together for optimum patient outcomes and satisfaction. With multiple locations around Knoxville, TN, Farragut ENT is committed to advancing the diagnosis and treatment of ENT-related conditions for patients and providers across East Tennessee.

LMU-DCOM and Farragut ENT & Allergy have forged a commitment to address common ENT conditions that can be managed at the primary health care level, especially in rural, underserved areas. Common ENT conditions account for a substantial portion of presenting complaints in primary care. Integrating otolaryngology expertise into continuing medical education for primary care providers offers a platform to augment the limited exposure during medical education, an opportunity to increase the scope of ENT treatment in primary care, a method to decrease health care expenditures by appropriate referrals, and a venue to change direction as needed in the transformation of the health care system.
