

2024 Homecoming CME: Women's Health

October 12, 2024

8 a.m. - 8:30 a.m. - Contraceptive Options for Primary Care Providers | Rebecca Bradley, DO'15

8:30 a.m. - 9:30 a.m. - Chronic Conditions in the Pregnant Patient | Alicia Huckaby, DO'14

9:30 a.m. - 10 a.m. - Issues in Perinatal Psychiatric Care | Anne Bowes, DO'15, FACOOG

10 a.m. - 11 a.m. - Osteoporosis in Women: A Comprehensive Overview |
Deirdre Knobeloch, DO'13, FACOG

11 a.m. - Noon - Sexually Transmitted Infections: Diagnosis and Management Pearls |
Anjum Bokhari, DO'17, FACOG

Noon - Complete CME paperwork and adjourn
Moderator: J. Michael Wieting, DO, MEd, FAOCPMR-D, FFSMB

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

1 Identify updates in the management of osteoporosis and STIs.

2 Identify updates in the management of conditions affecting pregnant patients.

3 Compare and contrast contraceptive options for female patients.

4 Apply updates to the learner's medical practice to improve outcomes for female patients.

LMU

DeBusk College of Osteopathic Medicine
LINCOLN MEMORIAL UNIVERSITY

SPEAKERS

Rebecca Bradley, DO'15 | Dr. Rebecca Bradley is a board certified OB/GYN currently working as an OB/GYN hospitalist and medical director of Labor & Delivery in Texarkana, Texas. She received her doctor of osteopathic medicine degree from LMU-DCOM in 2015 and subsequently completed her OB/GYN residency in Newark, New Jersey. She has a specific passion for education regarding women's health as well as working with underserved communities.

Dr. Bradley has no financial relationships to disclose.

Alicia Huckaby, DO'14 | Dr. Alicia Huckaby received her doctor of osteopathic medicine degree from LMU-DCOM in 2014. She completed her OB/GYN residency at Mercy St. Vincent Medical Center in Toledo, Ohio. After residency graduation, she accepted a faculty position at Mercy, where she also has served as the program director of the OB/GYN residency program for the last two years.

Dr. Huckaby has no financial relationships to disclose.

Anne Bowes, DO'15, FACOOG | Dr. Anne Bowes received her doctor of osteopathic medicine degree from LMU-DCOM in 2015. She completed her OB/GYN residency at Oklahoma State University in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Dr. Bowes practiced general OB/GYN in Fort Smith, Arkansas, for three years, where she saw a desperate need for mental health practitioners willing to treat pregnant patients. She is currently an obstetrics hospitalist in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where she cares for patients in a dedicated OB emergency department, high risk antepartum service, and works in conjunction with the generalist OB/GYNs to best serve the birthing patients of Oklahoma City.

Dr. Bowes has no financial relationships to disclose.

Deirdre Knobeloch, DO'13, FACOG | Dr. Deirdre Knobeloch received her doctor of osteopathic medicine degree from LMU-DCOM in 2013. She is a board certified OB/GYN with fellowship training in minimally invasive gynecology. She completed a rotating internship followed by OB/GYN residency at Covenant Healthcare/Central Michigan University. Her fellowship training was completed at Northwestern Hospital/University of Washington. For the last five years Dr. Knobeloch has worked as a generalist OB/GYN. Her current practice focuses on gynecological issues including well-woman care, sexual health, chronic pelvic pain, menopause, osteoporosis and complex benign surgical care. She believes women are at the core of families and communities and feels women's health care should be emphasized for the health of society as a whole.

Dr. Knobeloch has no financial relationships to disclose.

Anjum Bokhari, DO'17, FACOG | Dr. Anjum Bokhari received her doctor of osteopathic medicine degree from LMU-DCOM in 2017. She currently practices as an OB/GYN at a federally qualified health center in Southern California after completing her residency training in Warren, Michigan, in 2021. She is a current fellow of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecologists and is a member of the American College of Osteopathic Obstetrics and Gynecologists.

Dr. Bokhari has no financial relationships to disclose.

Moderator: J. Michael Wieting, DO, MEd, FAOCPRM-D | Dr. Michael Wieting is senior associate dean and professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation and osteopathic manipulative medicine at LMU-DCOM. He is board-certified in physical medicine and rehabilitation with additional subspecialty qualifications in sports medicine, electrodiagnostic medicine and pain medicine.

CME CREDIT

The Lincoln Memorial University-DeBusk College of Osteopathic Medicine (LMU-DCOM) is accredited by the American Osteopathic Association to provide osteopathic continuing medical education for physicians. LMU-DCOM designates this program for a maximum of 4.0 AOA Category 1-A credits and will report CME and specialty credits commensurate with the extent of the physician's participation in this activity.

The University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine (UNE COM) is accredited by the Maine Medical Association's Council on Continuing Medical Education and Accreditation (MMA CCMEA) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

UNE COM designates this educational activity for a maximum of 4.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)TM and 4.0 University of New England contact hours for non-physicians. Contact hours may be submitted by non-physician, non-PA health professionals for continuing education credits.

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the ACCME through the joint providership of University of New England and LMU-DCOM. University of New England is accredited by the Maine Medical Association to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

LMU

DeBusk College of Osteopathic Medicine
LINCOLN MEMORIAL UNIVERSITY